ABOUT ME

My life has always been associated with creating any kind of contents. I have experienced various careers such as writing, journalism, content creation and podcasting, and I achieved great success in all these jobs in my country.

After immigrating to Europe, I decided to focus on another type of creativity that has a common universal language, that is technology world with the language of programming. In the last few months, I have been diligently learning the fundamentals of front-end. So far I've got a handle on HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, and now I'm diving into React and its huge ecosystem.

It's hard to put into words how much I have been under the influence of the indescribable realm of programming. Every day I'm filled with learning the amazing capabilities of this interesting and stunning domain.

WORK EXPERIENCE

2019 – CURRENT Tehran, Iran
PODCAST CREATOR SELF-EMPLOYED

This is a mythology-focused podcast that included humor and detailed information.
  • Presented with a friendly and attractive tone
  • quickly became one of the most popular podcasts in Iran, with more than 30,000 listeners.
This experience turned my attention to the details that attract the audience's attention. As I transitioned from the podcast to website development, I discovered similarities in connecting with the audience.

2017 – 2020 Tehran, Iran
EDITORIAL DIRECTOR ALLAMEH TABATABAEI HIGH SCHOOL

I worked as the Editorial Director at the Content Production Department, where I had a diverse role such as:
  • covering the news and activities and upload on the site.
  • designing and implementing various festivals and competitions for students.
This position provided me with valuable insights into managing groups and resolving potential challenges between site designers and users. This experience enriched my perspective as I transitioned into front-end development.
